GLENDALE ROTARIANS GO BOOSTING

Yell Band of 21 Voices Organize for Big Convention

ARE ALL DOLLED UP

Sunshine of City Reflected in the Exterior Decorations

Twenty-one members of the Rotary Club of Glendale took it upon themselves today to stamp indelibly upon the minds and hearts of the 8000 Rotarians in convention in Los Angeles, the fact that Glendale, in addition to being the fastest growing city in America, has the livest and biggest-hearted bunch of Rotarians in the world. That's saying a lot, but those Glendale chaps lived up to this reputation today.

For a half hour before starting for Los Angeles this morning the "Rotates" of Glendale cluttered up the sidewalk in front of President Kent's office. Each member registered 100 per cent Rotary pulse with his classy blue coat and white trousers, his white socklets and his spotlessly white shoes. But the things that converted him into a genuine knockout was the straw hat with its yellow band, bearing the word "Glendale." The foxy tie must not be forgotten. This was an elaborate adaptation of the Windsor model, with small loops at the top and great flowing streamers. Of course this was of the brightest hue of yellow procurable. Then just a word about the cane. Sure, each fellow had his cane, and to each stick, would you believe it, was fastened one, two, three and, in the case of Jimmy Rhoades, as many as five little yellow bowlets in beautiful systematic order. Oh, yes, in addition to all this regalia each member wore that grand, old, good-natured Rotary smile, which very often widened into a grin. He also carried along the most cordial kind of a "Welcome to California—Come Out to Glendale," you ever heard and backed this up with a genuine Glendale handshake. Is there any doubt that with all these fixin's, this bunch will place Glendale on the Rotary map.

While blocking the sidewalk this morning these fellows further inflicted the natives by practicing their Glendale "yell." Someone suggested that next time they make a practice trip out somewhere near Mojave or some other hot place. But still the practice went on. The yell sounded something like this.

"Glendale! Glendale! The fastest growing city in the world."

Not satisfied with this, someone suggested that the Glendale Rotary song be rehearsed. All hands acted on this suggestion, and the sweet, harmonious tones which resulted carried for miles, echoing and re-echoing time and again among the canyons of the beautiful Verdugos. The song went something like this:

"Glendale, fast-growing Glendale,
It's the fastest growing city in the land;
We are up from Glendale, beautiful Glendale,
And we're glad to be in the Rotary band."

After doing their worst the crowd headed, via automobile for Los Angeles, intent on spending the day at the big convention, where the people of Glendale may feel assured they will receive sufficient advertising.

Glendale Rotarians making up this mob were as follows: J. E. Philips, Val Hollister, Arthur Dibbern, Rene Olin, Roy L. Kent, William Howes, T. D. Watson, George Bentley, A. R. Eastman, Rev. E. E. Ford, Frank Karr, Geo. U. Moyse, Edward Jones, Francis Henry, Paul Carlson, W. A. Tanner, Richardson D. White, J. I. Wernette, William Hunter, Gil Cowan and James Rhoades.

Yesterday was a big day for Glendale when something like a thousand delegates to the convention visited Glendale and vicinity, in automobiles furnished by Glendale boosters. The cars bearing the Rotary signs began coming through Glendale at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and were seen about the streets until late evening. A few more cars could have been used, as it is understood that there were between 80 and 100 delegates wanting to come out here who were not furnished with transportation.

URGE HENRY FORD FOR PRESIDENT

DEARBORN, Mich., June 6.—Henry Ford's neighbors tonight will again urge him to become a candidate for the presidency at a meeting of the Dearborn "Ford for President" club.

Petitions asking the automobile manufacturer to become a candidate will be ratified at the meeting, Dr. Edward Fisher, village president, said. When met by a committee of neighbors last week, Ford would not discuss the subject.

Procrastination Is Cause of Much Grief in This Old World

Now is the time to do the many things which you are so apt to put off until tomorrow. All of us are apt to procrastinate, but James W. Foley in The Listening Post this evening admonishes us that "There is not time but the present" and also that "there is no time but the present."... It is one of those fascinating Foley philosophies.

The thefts of automobiles are becoming so numerous as to make a prospective purchaser of the gloom dispellers hesitate before putting his money in such a vehicle. Mr. James in his comment on the day's news today, besides writing about the stealing of cars, discusses easy divorces, crime, the army of rats in New York and many other interesting topics.

Ever think about the ending of a life which has been spent in absolute solitude? John Pilgrim in his article tonight tells about a man who during his lifetime had everything that money could buy, but when the end came there was one thing that money could not possibly purchase—love and tender sympathy.

Then there is Della Stewart's intimate little chat, a pretty poem by Mary Lamb and Dr. Frank Crane's essay on Barrie as features on this evening's editorial page, besides the editorials on vital questions of the day. Among them is one on the wife's paycheck.

GARBAGE SERVICE ADJUSTED BY CREDIT MEN

Use Beet Sugar Is Plea to Association by E. J. Myer, Jr.

Recommendations to improve the garbage collection service in the business district were discussed at the noon meeting of the Glendale Credit Association yesterday and recommendations by Judge Owen C. Emery, who was chairman for the meeting, were adopted.

The plans adopted call for the collection of rubbish in the business district once in every 24 hours of a business week. The merchants are to pay $2 monthly for this service. Any extra charge will be borne by the city. This service will take the place of the service formerly rendered the business district.

City Manager W. H. Reeves, newly elected member of the association, was present and addressed the members regarding the garbage situation.

E. J. Myer, Jr., special representative of the Southern California beet sugar industry, spoke. He urged that the people use more beet sugar and save this industry from failure in Southern California.

At the next meeting of the association the members will be divided in two groups, with H. M. Butts and Mr. Potter acting as leaders. These two groups will conduct a campaign for members.

Guests at the meeting yesterday were: Walter W. Walton of Hollywood, representative of the Bass-Hueter Paint Company; W. H. Harrison, city comptroller, and Leroy Lorenz of Moon Camp, Big Bear.

SEEKS TO TAKE SCULLS TROPHY

British Championship to Attacked by Duluth Oarsman

NEW YORK, June 6.—John Bull can't be blamed for puffing a chest of the diamond scull trophy which has been gathering dust on a British shelf since 1897.

The diamond scull is symbolic of the best pair of arms and legs and the best heart that sits in a boat. Since 1897 the evidence has been that the best man in the world behind a pair of oars was a Briton.

However, there was a fluke attached and it may be unfluked this year.

Walter Hoover is an oarsman and civil engineer of Duluth. He won the Philadelphia gold challenge cup, emblematic of the American championship yesterday, and sails today for London, where his entry has been accepted for the Diamond scull races to be conducted in conjunction with the Henley races on June 30.

BROOKHART SWEEPS IOWA FOR SENATE

DES MOINES, Ia., June 6.—Smith W. Brookhart, progressive, made a clean sweep of the state in Iowa's race for the Republican nomination for United States senator, incomplete returns showed today. Brookhart's lead over the field was increasing as reports piled up from scattered precincts throughout the state. It appeared a landslide for Brookhart.

WIDENING OF COLORADO PROPOSED

Council Considers Plan to Improve From Central, Eastward

80 FT. THROUGHOUT

Traffic Importance of Highway Is Realized in Project

Steps were taken last night by the Glendale city council which, if carried through, will result in Colorado street between Central avenue and the eastern city limits being widened to a uniform width of 80 feet. The stretch of this road lying between Central and Glendale avenues is 80 feet in width right now, but the section from Glendale avenue to the eastern city limits is only 60 feet wide. As this is the principal cross-city thoroughfare, it is believed by the members of the city council that the road should be widened to 80 feet before it is built up any more. It is understood that a large number of the property owners along this boulevard are very anxious to have this widening process take place.

The present plan is to permit the portion of Colorado west of Central avenue to remain 75 feet in width. It is understood that the residents along this western section are desirous of having the sides of the road improved so that it will not present such a ragged appearance.

It is the aim of the council to have all of this improvement work under way and completed as soon as possible, as it is of vital interest to the city in general and Colorado boulevard in particular.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE ORDERED BY CITY COUNCIL

Meeting Is Confined to Clearing Up Street Situation and Work

Peter L. Ferry was granted an extension of 30 days on the completion of the improvement work on Isabel street, at the city council meeting last night. The actual work is finished, but a few more days are needed to get the bonds for the work through.

A petition was received asking that Isabel, between Lexington and Doran, be made a first-class residential district. The city attorney was instructed to draft the necessary proceedings for this step.

The contract for the improvement of Kenilworth avenue was awarded last night to Napier & Simpson. This will consist of grading, oiling and surfacing, sidewalk and curbing.

Another step toward the improving of Brand boulevard between Colorado and Windsor was taken last night, when Willite was decided upon for this thoroughfare. The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for this work. These will be received two weeks from last night.

The matter of the improvement of Louise street from Colorado to Windsor was held up last night. The council hesitates to simply resurface this street. It believes a better class of improvement should be put in, and it was decided to hold up the work to see if the petitioners could be persuaded to install a better grade of work.

A resolution ordering in the work on Western avenue was adopted. This is a good class of work and will be rushed to completion.

A resolution was adopted ordering in the improvement work on Granada street south of Colorado. This work will be started as soon as possible.

The matter of laying out and widening Mariposa street was again taken up last night. An ordinance was introduced declaring the intention of the council to do this work. It was laid over until the next meeting.

A petition was received asking that Merrill avenue south of Holly drive be vacated. The city engineer and attorney were instructed to draft the necessary proceedings for this work.

An ordinance was adopted ordering the laying out of the high school alley. The new proceedings will make this alley 35 feet wide.

AIRMEN REACH BRAZIL SHORE

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, June 6.—Captains Saccadura and Coutinho, Portuguese naval aviators, completed their transatlantic flight from Lisbon here yesterday. The 4000-mile flight began in April and the airmen used three planes, two of which were wrecked.

MILLION DOLLARS ADDED TO STRIKE FUNDS

Recent Decision of Supreme Court May End Controversy

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The supreme court decision releasing $750,000 United Mine Workers' funds may hasten the end of the strike, miners' officials said today. The decision released for use of the mine union, the funds which have been tied up in escrow for years in connection with the Coronado Coal company's damage suit. The supreme court yesterday ruled in favor of the United Mine Workers.

Release of this sum and the virtual certainty that as a result of the decision the mine workers will recover another $350,000 tied up in an identical suit brought by the Pennsylvania Mining company, now pending in circuit court of appeals in St. Louis, will so strengthen the miners that the coal operators may be willing to meet them in a conference to settle the strike at once, according to opinion expressed at union headquarters.

"It was a great victory for the United Mine Workers," said Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal.

After a conference with attorneys for the organization, and a talk with John L. Lewis, president, over long-distance telephone, Searles said the United Press account yesterday of the decision was accurate in every detail. The same statement was made by expert legal attaches of the supreme court.

Some labor authorities here claim the court, in holding that unincorporated labor unions are sueable under anti-trust laws and that their strike funds are subject to seizure for damages, imposed important restrictions which do not make this declaration so sweeping as was first assumed.

LIBRARY BOARD PLANS EXTENSION

Considers Needs of North Side for Branch of Service

The regular monthly business meeting of the library board was held in the library last night. One of the principal topics of discussion was the budget for the ensuing year. Nothing definite was done with relation to this and it will be taken up for further discussion and final action next Monday night.

The matter of establishing a branch library in the northern part of the city was taken up and discussed at length. It was generally realized that there is need for a branch in the northern section, but no definite step in this direction was taken.

Another matter taken up was the necessity of holding a bond election in the near future for the purpose of providing funds for making additions to the central building, and the southern branch and the erection of a branch in the northern part of the city.

It was decided to send Librarian Mrs. Alma J. Danford of the Central library, and Mr. Cushing of the southern branch, to the state library convention which will be held at Coronado, beginning next Monday and remaining in session four days.

JAPAN TORN BY POLITICAL STRIFE

TOKIO, June 6.—Failure thus far to find any outstanding leader to head a new government today further complicated Japan's internal political situation, which was brought to a climax late yesterday by the resignation of Premier Takahashi and his cabinet. The question of who will head the new government was an all-absorbing one in Japan today. From no quarter was any leader brought forward as the logical choice for premier, leaving the situation most uncertain.

PRUSSIAN GETS PRUSSIC ACID

CASSEL, Germany, June 6.—Phillip Scheidemann, German political leader, is bedridden today as a result of having prussic acid thrown over him by an assassin. He is suffering chiefly from shock. The attack on Scheidemann was made in the streets of Cassel as he was taking a stroll. He fired two shots at the assassin, but the man escaped.

ALL SAME OSTRICH HE SIGNALED FROM BEHIND

Sneaking Away, Violator Forgot His "Stop" Flashlight in Rear

The electric stop signals on the rear of many automobiles have won additional favor with the police of Glendale. Motorcycle Officer Snyder claims that as detectives the "Stop" spot lights can't be beat.

Last night Snyder was pursuing a traffic violator. To elude his pursuer the violator turned down a dark street and switched off the lights of his car.

The officer approached the street, peered down its length, but could find no trace of said violator. Suddenly from the stygian blackness of the street a red light shone forth with all the glory of the rising sun. It was the stop signal on the rear of the car driven by said traffic violator. He put on his brake to slow down for a corner and automatically lighted the spot light which is attached to the brakes.

Snyder rode up, and after making out the regulation traffic ticket, commonly called Judge Lowe's invitation, advised the driver to remove his spot light before playing hide and seek again.

YOUNG CLARK IS ABSENT FROM HOME

J. B. Clark of 336 North Maryland reported to the police department last night that his son is missing. He said the last time the boy was seen was when he left for school yesterday morning.

The boy is 14 years old and is large for his age. When he disappeared he was wearing a red plaid shirt, black and red cap and dark, long trousers. The boy has light hair and fair complexion.

Police of the surrounding towns have been notified of the boy's disappearance.

HAYWARD SAYS CITY NEEDS PARKS

Returning From Realty Convention, Contrast Is Striking, He Says

GLENDALE'S LACK

All Cities of North Have Civic Breathing Spots He Learns

Secretary E. P. Hayward, who returned from the Realty Convention at San Francisco Sunday, is as enthusiastic as are others over the splendid entertainment provided for delegates by the Bay City, and also enroute. In speaking of his impressions he said:

"The most outstanding feature of the caravan trip was the exceedingly warm hospitality extended by all the cities between here and San Francisco, and all were aided in their entertainment plans materially by the fact that each little town had a public park where they could take visitors and provide entertainment. The park idea is not a new one in Glendale, but the advantages of a park were certainly brought home to the Glendale delegation. It was a subject of remark by eastern visitors as well.

"Many of the parks were out of town, but in these days of easy transportation by automobile and trolley, it is not necessary to have a park in the center of a city. These cities have evidently realized that a park which is a real park a mile or two from town, where people can gather in large numbers, is a necessity.

"The country up north is magnificent. I never saw agricultural conditions finer. We were showered with products all the way, cherries, raisins, nuts, oranges, everything representative of the locality we passed through was put up in neat packages and presented to us."

CENSORSHIP IS REJECTED AT EAGLE ROCK

Proposed Ordinance Is Defeated in the City Council

The Eagle Rock city council unanimously rejected the proposed motion picture censorship board ordinance last night at its regular meeting.

Two weeks ago, a small group of Eagle Rock citizens, upon learning that a new motion picture theatre was to be erected, drew up an ordinance authorizing the city council to form a censorship committee to pass on films as it is done in Pasadena.

The council chambers were crowded last night, and a feature was that the minister of Eagle Rock Congregational church opposed the censorship board.

MOTORCYCLE RIDER DRIVES INTO AUTO

Receives Fractured Ankle As Result of Collision

M. C. Bowman, 118 North Orange street is in the Glendale Research hospital today with a fractured left ankle and other minor injuries as a result of a collision last night with an automobile driven by Carl Seubert, 309 East Elk street.

According to reports of the accident, Bowman, who was riding a motorcycle, ran into the machine driven by Seubert. The front wheel of the motorcycle was entirely demolished. Mr. Seubert took the injured man to the hospital, where his injuries were attended and then returned to the police station and reported the accident.

Attaches of the hospital say that Mr. Bowman is resting comfortably this morning.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS POSTPONE MEETING

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale chamber of commerce, which was scheduled to meet at noon today, was postponed until later in the week. It was impossible to get a quorum on account of most of the members attending the Rotary convention in Los Angeles. The board members will be notified of a called meeting later in the week.

Queer Doings on Lil' Old Globe That Makes News

NEW YORK, June 6.—John Lemel went to sleep in front of a safe. Police said he had just opened and forgot to rob it. He's in jail.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Because a collie answered to two names from contradictory owners, a puzzled magistrate today postponed ownership decision indefinitely.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Lillian Russell's advice to ambitious girls was brief: "If you can resist the stage—stay home. If you can't—work constantly; live like an anchorite; exercise and practice patience."

WICHITA, Kan., June 6.—"I was trying to keep my daughter from marrying a dude," "Slim" Tittsworth, laborer, declared when arrested on a charge of stabbing A. P. Cole, telegraph operator, his daughter's suitor. "She must marry inside her class."

NEW YORK, June 6.—Fifteen minutes of jazz has the equivalent kick of seven dry Martinis. This is the equation worked out today by George W. Pound of Washington, general counsel of the Music Industries chamber of commerce and the National Association of Music Merchants, who is attending the convention of the organizations here. "Jazz and booze are simply answering the same purpose in different ways," he said. "Jazz is now in a measure taking the place of rum as prohibition becomes more stringent, in satisfying the craving for emotional thrills. The present thirst for booze can be translated simply as a moral and social unrest caused by the difficult return to balance after the war."

CITY DEFICIT IS WIPED OUT BY COUNCIL

Debts Inherited by Administration Will Be Liquidated in Full

The deficit inherited by the present city administration has been practically liquidated and by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, may be wiped off the books entirely. This fact was made known at a special session of the city council held after the regular meeting last night.

City Comptroller H. A. Harrison said this morning: "I believe that at the end of the fiscal year we will have a sufficient surplus over this year's operations to wipe out the inherited debt of this administration."

When the present officials took office last June the city faced a deficit of $7230.09 for the operations of the year 1920-21. A business platform was adopted and already the accounts of Comptroller Harrison show that there is a surplus of approximately $5000 from the budget for the year 1921-22. This surplus will liquidate all of the deficit with the exception of approximately $2230.09. Mr. Harrison is of the opinion that before the end of the fiscal year sufficient surplus will be on hand to liquidate the entire deficit and start the year with a clear slate.

The liquidation of the inherited debt of the city has been accomplished during a year that the city has shown a greater growth than at any other period of its history. The necessity for street work and other improvements has doubled. This work has been done and enough money saved to cover considerable of the city's debts.

The city council and City Manager W. H. Reeves have kept a close watch on municipal expenditures ever since taking office. They have made several changes and reorganizations, resulting in the saving of considerable sums.

The budget for the year 1922-23 is being made up at present. "The one idea is to put the city in a position to do business for the next year on a cash basis," said City Manager Reeves.

The budget for the coming year will be presented to the council at its meeting on Thursday night and will become effective July 1.

COAL PRICES ARE SURE TO ADVANCE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Unless congressmen take some action immediately, the price of coal will be boosted throughout the nation from $1.50 to $2 a ton, officials believe. "Congress is the only body which can set up a system to control prices in the emergency," Secretary Hoover told the United Press before he left on a western trip. "I do not recommend such action. I merely point out that no other man or group of men in the United States can arbitrarily thwart the retailers if they wish to raise prices."

DRESS REHEARSAL AT HIGH TONIGHT

"Clarence" Is Rollicking Comedy Cleverly Worked Out

Members of the senior class who, in the mast of the senior play, "Clarence," devoted practically all of Saturday to rehearsals, will have a dress rehearsal tonight.

As has been announced, the part of Clarence is being taken by George Jordan. Other characters are: "Miss Pinney," Eleanor Sawyer; "Bobbie," Harold Sprague; "Cora," Virginia Huntley; "Della, the Irish maid," Mildred Stanford; "Mr. Wheeler," Don Cameron; "Mrs. Wheeler," Genevieve Mulligan; "Dinwiddie, the butler, Dale Wood; "Mrs. Martin, the secretary," Louise Hollenbeck.

It is comedy, pure and simple, of the rollicking kind, and those who have seen the rehearsals say the clever amateurs are doing wonderfully well. As it will be shown but twice, Thursday and Friday nights, and as a large proportion of the tickets, which sell for 35 cents, will be absorbed by the students, outsiders who want to see it should lose no time in securing them.

A beautifu new and much needed set has been specially built and painted for the play by Walter Gorman, head of the woodworking department, and his son.

Mrs. Al. H. McGee and baby of 524 West Burchett street recently spent the day in Los Angeles with friends.

A Year Ago Today

(From the Glendale Daily Press of June 6, 1921.)

The Y. M. C. A. round-up at the home of L. C. Brand, Friday afternoon and evening, proved all that it had promised to be in the way of a good time, not only for the 250 boys entertained, but for Mr. and Mrs. Brand.

Boys of the second Hi-Y group were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hand, 354 Salem street, on Friday evening, at a four-course dinner.

Secretary James M. Rhoades of the chamber of commerce sent a telegram of sympathy to flood-stricken people of Pueblo, offering assistance on behalf of the Glendale chamber of commerce.

The new cabinet of the Central Avenue Methodist church Epworth league was installed last night at the meeting of that organization.

The Elks' baseball team was defeated yesterday by the San Fernando nine, after having held their opponents even for six innings.

BAY CITY SEES LIGHTS OF L. A.

Take System of City Development From So. Cal. and Plan Work

Charles Guthrie, who returned Sunday from the Realty Convention at San Francisco, reports that the Bay City has seen a great light. The chamber of commerce, realty board and other organizations of the big town have been holding conferences to determine what has caused Los Angeles to forge ahead as she has been doing for a good many years and have decided it is her policy of boosting for her city and entertainment of eastern visitors.

The conference decided also that the results justified imitation of Los Angeles' methods and henceforth San Francisco will boost for San Francisco and cease to knock other cities, and will make things pleasant for the stranger.

It is estimated that not less than $30,000 was spent giving a good time to the 1200 delegates and tiher ladies, who were lavishly entertained. One day they were given the trip to Mount Tamalpais and taken to all the sights of the mountain. Another day a steamer was chartered to take them around the bay, one of the harbor commissioners accompanying the excursion to explain all the landmarks and places of interest.

The only criticism Mr. Guthrie had to make was San Francisco's idea of a good time at night, which seems to be a big carrousal with plenty of booze.

The city is planning to entertain on just as big a scale the Shriners when they meet there in convention on the 12th. Some of the delegates were already in evidence.

Glendale was represented at the convention by Secretary E. P. Hayward, who faithfully attended all sessions; President Cameron Thom, H. L. Miller, Spencer Robinson and Mr. Guthrie.

BRIDE MOTIF IN PENDROY'S WINDOW

Most of the season's activities center around the June bride, and it is for this reason that the Pendroy Dry Goods company has devoted a window to the bride and her attendants. The bride is beautiful in a gown of silk and lace, and her bridesmaids are gowned in organdies of pastel shades, such as yellow, orchid and pink, with tulle hats to match each gown.

This pretty setting is in front of a bank of beautiful potted ferns and other greenery, which sets it off to great advantage.

Mrs. E. V. Bacon and family of 1335 South San Fernando road have leased their property and moved in the Angelus tract.

GIRLS' LEAGUE TO GIVE EGG HUNT

To Repeat Fun for Boyd Street School Children

The Easter-egg hunt which members of the Girls' league of Glendale high gave for children of the Boyd Street school last spring, made a tremendous impression on the youngsters who enjoyed it, and some who were not guests have felt aggrieved and defrauded. To compensate these, the philanthropic committee of the league, of which Miss Lois Olmstead is chairman, is giving them a picnic at Griffith park tomorrow afternoon. Autos will collect the children, a member of the committee being assigned to each auto, which will also carry the mother of the committeewoman. Many of the children have never visited a park, or if they have, it was not Griffith park, and it will be a great treat to all of them. They will be taken to the park early in the afternoon and will visit the cages of animals, be entertained with simple games, and given a nice picnic lunch before being returned to their homes.

BEAR GIFTS TO OLD FOLKS HOME

Seven or eight auto loads of visitors and gifts left the Christian church at 9 o'clock this morning, bound for the Old People's home in Long Beach. It is an annual pilgrimage and the excursion probably brought as much joy to the visitors as to the visited.

Domestic Science Department Supplies Refreshments for Visitors

The Glendale High Teachers' club entertained members of the City Teachers' club, their wives and children, Monday, with a picnic at Brookside park.

Morgan Smith of the shop department had general charge of the affair. The luncheon served was prepared by Miss Ellen Hanson of the domestic science department, and Miss Mona Gardner of the drama department, with the assistance of other members, and it was a delicious picnic fare, comprising baked beans, wienies, buns, pickles, coffee, cake and ice cream. Miss Hobush and Mr. Lockwood made the coffee, which was very fine.

Transportation by autos was in charge of Vice Principal Ferguson, who proved an efficient traffic manager.

The party, which numbered about 150, left here at 3:30 and on arrival at the park was entertained with games, supervised by Miss Knight, Miss Shattuck and Mr. Butterfield. There was a ball game between teams of ladies of the two clubs, followed by potato, peanut and other diverting races.

Everyboly had a good time, and the return to Glendale was made between 8 and 9 o'clock.

THURSDAY CLUB POSTPONES FORUM

MRS. W. W. JONES ELECTED CURATOR OF BARD SECTION

Very Charming Luncheon Precedes Election of Officers

Charming in every detail was the pretty luncheon given Monday by the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, in the auditorium of the chamber of commerce. The delicious luncheon was served by the Glen Inn.

At this time the curator for the coming year was elected, Mrs. W. W. Jones being chosen unanimously. The long tables were placed in "U" form, and were beautiful in their red and white decorations. Several vases of red and white carnations with baby's breath were found on each table, and at each place was a red favor basket filled with mint candies. Place cards were tied with white ribbon to carnations. Covers were laid for about 40.

Following the luncheon, a short business session was held, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, curator of the section, being in charge. Toasts were given by Mrs. W. E. Evans, guest of honor, for Mrs. Evans is mother of the Shakespeare section; Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president; Mrs. Dan Campbell, president-elect; Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, curator of the literary section; Mrs. J. E. Lyons, teacher of the Shakespeare section, who gave a splendid toast to "Women."

Mrs. Lyons was presented with a bouquet of roses by Mrs. Montgomery, in behalf of the section, but upon inspecting them more closely she found under them a white box containing one dozen sterling silver teaspoons, with her initial beautifully engraved upon them.

Mrs. E. L. Young, secretary and treasurer, then read her yearly reports, which were very interesting. During the year there had been a contest to see who would have the most regular attendance, and the reward for this, which was a pretty potted fern, went to Mrs. L. I. Goldthwaite and her daughter, Miss Helen Goldthwaite. Mrs. E. L. Young had been present the same number of times, so she received a similar reward.

Mrs. Montgomery thanked the ladies for standing by her so faithfully during the year, and she thanked, in behalf of the section, Mrs. Chester Kling for the beautiful luncheon, of which she was in charge. Mrs. Montgomery was presented with a beautiful crystal vase filled with sweet peas of pastel shades. This was a gift from the section for her wonderful work during the year.

The meeting then adjourned, and a beautiful piano number was given by Miss Litch, immediately following which the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" was presented by the Misses Esther Ralston and Doris Packer. Miss Ralston played the role of Romeo, the ardent wooer, while Miss Packer portrayed Juliet, each presenting her part in a splendid manner. Although simple, the scene was beautifully and effectively staged and costumed.

The also presented the closet scene from "Hamlet," which, with the professional aid of Mrs. Henry Ralston, who played the part of the queen, Hamlet's mother, afforded an opportunity to display their talents. Both scenes were greatly appreciated by the guests.

Guests of the section were Mrs. W. E. Evans, guest of honor; Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club; Mrs. Dan Campbell, president-elect; Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain, Miss Doris Packer, Miss Esther Ralston, Miss Litch and Mrs. R. E. Olin.

Truths in Epigram

Nature speaks in symbols and in signs. — Whittier (1807-1892).

Happy the man, and happy he alone, he who can call today his own; he who, secure within, can say, Tomorrow, do thy worst, for I have lived today.—Dryden 1631-1701).

A good book is the best of friends, the same today and for ever.—Tupper (1810-1889).

FIGHTING SENATORS

That the country has a certain regard for pugilism is attested by the popularity of the person who happens to be champion in any class. It does not, however, desire that its senators should fight. It feels a sense of humiliation every time Watson of Georgia assumes the manner of a drunken roustabout. It is not edified when the respected McCumber and the equally respected Robinson spit on their several palms and advance with threatening gesture and unkind words. The really sedate senator shrinks from the duty of holding the truculent apart as though acting as referee in the ring. The senate has been mentioned times without number as the most dignified legislative body on earth. Assuming the mental attitude that apparently pervades that gathering now, one is prone to ask "Where'd you get that stuff?"

There are many methods by which delays may be brought about in a legitimate and fairly courteous fashion. It may be done by dilatory motions, useless rollcalls, frantic hunts for a quorum. The last is likely to result in decimation of the crowd in the grandstand, if the day is fair. There seems no necessity, then, for clogging up the machinery by jamming into it the clenched fist of statesmanship.

The senate is losing its reputation. It is not a dignified legislative body. It can't be dignified if it gets its authority from Marquis of Queensbury rules, to the ignoring of parliamentary law.

ANOTHER AMENDMENT

An amendment forbidding child labor is under consideration. Committees have been arranged to draft a suitable form, to devise laws for enforcement, and to arouse public sympathy on behalf of changing the constitution so as to permit it to protect children. At present this privilege is withheld. The constitution, vital and potent as it is, must be admitted to be imperfect in this respect. It is unable to prevent greed from grinding the little ones in its mills and factories.

The evils of child labor have been recited often. There is nothing secret about them. They stand forth as an open iniquity. If the constitution is unable to check this great wrong, then to the extent implied the constitution is defective. The remedy lies in the hands of the people.

Men who drew up the constitution were actuated by high motives. They desired to express and to uphold certain principles, and this task they accomplished. They devised a document embodying much that always will be dear to the lover of liberty. To believe they, having only the knowledge of an experience that differs widely from an experience with conditions existing today, were competent to furnish forth rules adequate to the twentieth century, would be to declare them supermen. This they were not. They were human, and subject to limitations. The effect of one of these limitations is seen when the supreme court says there exists no constitutional method of regulating child labor. The meaning of this is that the health, the education and the moral welfare of children must be neglected, or that otherwise the constitution is violated.

On the mere ground of the intellectual and ethical standing of the framers of the constitution, the declaration may be made that they never intended to promote so grave an attack upon the very fabric of the government they were instituting. Manhood is not to be expected out of broken and abused childhood. The proposed amendment represents the sentiment of the country. The sentiment rests both upon humane and economic grounds.

LA FOLLETTE'S CHANCES

La Follette is among the senators who must seek re-election. There is abundant promise that he will have a fight on his hands. At the same time the part of the public that has failed to be pleased at his conduct, appears to entertain but small hope for his defeat. La Follette's part of Wisconsin seems to be a peculiar community. It still is socialistic enough to follow Berger, and Berger, rejected as unfit for a congressional seat, follows La Follette.

There was a time when La Follette was regarded as an admirable figure. He was a fighter then as now, but by different methods. He overcame a shrewd and determined opposition when he won the governorship of his state. He went to the senate where he sponsored at least one benign law. At one time there was chance that he would be given the republican nomination to the presidency.

With the world war the popularity of La Follette vanished. It may not be said to have waned. It disappeared with a slump. It was, and then it was not. La Follette stood on the floor of the senate as the unbridled advocate of Germany. Had his speeches first been submitted to the German high command, it is improbable that a single word would have been eliminated, nor a phrase have been added. As wholly and unreservedly as though such had been their avowed purpose, the speeches were pro-German and anti-ally, and then anti-American.

Thus ended La Follette. The man remained, but as an empty shell, a shadow of the man that had been. In Wisconsin still they look upon him as having the substance of old. Outside of Wisconsin, this strikes the judgment as a queer delusion.

WHITHER DRIFTING?

Captain Roald Amundsen's exploration ship Maud is now on its way to Nome. Thence it will set northward, to be imbedded in Arctic ice, and drift with the pack; perhaps for five years, as calculated, perhaps forever. Amundsen thinks he will be carried across the north pole. He hopes to find an open sea, now beyond the ken of man. He has thoughts of a possible polar continent, a vast stretch untouched by human tread.

Many men have sailed for the pole with high ambition, and have found death or disappointment. The late Peary is believed to have achieved his aim. He made the error of not permitting his comrades to accompany him at the last. This fact was used as an argument against his claims, but the claims were upheld by science nevertheless. That Peary accomplished anything but the mere realization that he had been first to reach a remote spot in desolation, is not clear to the lay mind. Cook essayed the same feat, the result being not only failure but disgrace.

It is not thinkable yet that a continent in the polar region could add to the wealth of the world. Even if such a body of land exists, it would be difficult to reach even were the way thither fully revealed. Presumably it would be attended by hostile climatic conditions. But this is a wonderful world. People fly now, and talk to each other clear around the globe. It may be that ultimately the most distant and at present, inaccessible place, cannot remain isolated always through the fact of distance.

There is universal thirst for knowledge. People want to learn of stellar spaces. They study Venus and Mars, and gleaming points thousands of "years" away, as a ray of light travels. It is just as natural that they should desire to learn of the comparatively small ball on which they are living, leaving it no secrets in all its expanse of land or sea.

THE WIFE'S PAYCHECK

Money earned by a wife is under control of the husband solely. This is the law of California according to a judge on the superior bench who certainly ought to know. The earnings of a married couple are community property, and disposition of community property rests with the husband.

If such a law as this is on the books, and may be enforced, away goes the theory of equality of sexes. And even if enforced, it will not be respected. It is a statutory anomoly, the expression of gross and abominable injustice.

The theory of married life is that the husband shall provide the living. There might be circumstances under which he would be unable to do so, forcing the wife to earn wages. That the expenditure of such wages should be wholly as dictated by the husband, even to the gratifying of his personal whims and the neglect of her necessities, is as wide a variation as possible from an equable and decent course.

By the operation of this measure a lazy husband might decline to labor, living in sloth upon the industry of the wife. In this the law would uphold him, but it could not save him from being a detestable creature lacking most of the essential qualities of manhood. He could take her money and spend it as he pleased. No more outrageous privilege ever was granted by legislative enactment.

Where both husband and wife are engaged in gainful occupations, it might be reckoned fair to pool the earnings in the common interests of the family. Were the husband to assert ownership and control of the aggregate, he would be less husband than swine.

In the matter that called for judicial expression of opinion, a wife had set up the claim that shortly after marriage she was obliged to go to work, and that her husband invariably appropriated her pay check. It would be interesting to know the moral difference between such stealing and that which the code defines as theft.

BARRIE

By. DR. FRANK CRANE

We get to thinking that all men are common, that life is drab, that nothing will happen, and that there is no new thing under the sun, and then comes along a genius and puts his bomb under us, and blows our smothering despair sky high.

DR. FRANK CRANE

If there is any one man in the world today who has the right and title to be called a genius, it is James M. Barrie. In the matter of creative imagination I put him before any living man.

The other day he was made Lord Rector of St. Andrews university in Scotland, a sort of honorary degree, I imagine. And he made a speech on that occasion which will ring around the world.

To find such a piece of literature coming from an institution of learning is as shattering as it would be to find a young arch-angel coming out of the slums. If you get a chance, read that speech of Barrie's. By all means, you must do so. Just as a teaser, I will quote you a few sentences.

He speaks of a certain MacConnochie, which is a name he gives to his unruly half. It is like Stevenson's Mr. Hyde, only, instead of being gruesome and sinful, it is whimsy and wayward. He said his desire was to be the family solicitor standing firm on his hearthrug among the harsh realities of the office furniture, but MacConnochie prefers to fly around on one wing.

He urged the youth to prepare for the great fight between them and their betters, "by youth meaning, of course, you, and by your betters, us."

He spoke of a League of Youth. "You have more in common with the youth of other lands than youth and age can ever have with each other." He suggested that a League of Youth would be better than a League of Nations, as youth was most occupied with dying for quarrels that their betters had brought on.

He gave a definition of science which is a gem: "It is the surest means of teaching you how to know what you mean when you say so."

"The artistic callings," he said, "are merely doing what you are clamorus to be at; it isn't real work unless you would rather be doing something else." He alluded to "success which has become a somewhat odious onion nowadays, chiefly because we so often give the name to the wrong thing."

Again he said: "Courage! I don't think it is to be got by your becoming solemnsides before your time. You must have been warned against letting the golden hours slip by. Yes, but some of them are only golden because we let them slip. Diligence, ambition, noble words, but only if touched to fine issues." Unless a man has courage he has no security for preserving any other virtue.

"Don't forget to speak scornfully of the Victorian Age. There will be lots of time to repent when you know it better. Very soon you will be Victorian or that sort of thing yourselves—next session, probably, when the freshmen come up. Make merry while you may."

Altogether, a pure and shining diamond in the mud of contemporaneous literature.

THE LISTENING POST

It used to be when you were learning to typewrite perhaps, they set you some words to copy:

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party."

Just why they should have chosen those words it is not possible to say.

Unless somebody used it as they used things in old-fashioned copy books.

* * *

The value of the sentence was not great.

Except as a campaign slogan.

For whether now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party depends on what the party is.

The thing is too indefinite.

* * *

For there are many men.

And many parties.

And the republican would not admit that now was a good time for the good man to come to the aid of the democratic party.

And vice versa.

* * *

So there is a better slogan to be chosen sometime if you want to practice.

Either handwriting or typewriting.

And we will set it down here.

In capital letters:

THERE IS NO TIME LIKE THE PRESENT.

* * *

It is a simple statement.

Worth reading.

Worth writing down.

Worth remembering.

Worth taking lesson from.

For not only is there no time like the present but there is NO TIME BUT THE PRESENT.

* * *

That is especially worth remembering.

You can't do a thing in the world yesterday.

That is gone by you.

The mill will never grind with the water that is past.

Somebody said that somewhere sometime.

And the regretters of the world are those seeking to make the mill grind with waters that have flowed through the wheel.

* * *

The way to keep from being a regretter is to be a doer of things now.

Idleness and inattention and carelessness and procrastination now mean later regret.

Mean that sometime you will be the miller at the wheel seeking to grind your grain with water that is past.

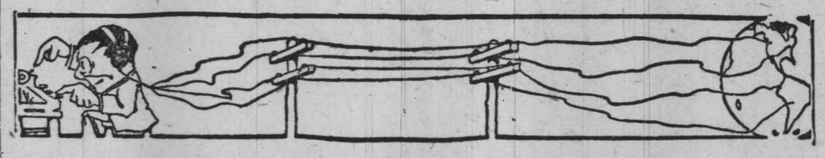

THERE IS NO TIME LIKE THE PRESENT.

And there is NO TIME BUT THE PRESENT.

* * *

That letter you were to write,
That bit of help you were to render,
That commission you were to execute,
That promise you were to keep.
All these are things not of yesterday.
Not for tomorrow.
But things of today.
Now.
For NOW IS ALL THE TIME THERE IS.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

A Child—By Mary Lamb (1765-1847)

A child's a plaything for an hour;
Its pretty tricks we try
For that or for a longer space—
Then tire, and lay it by.

But I knew one that to itself
All seasons could control;
That would have mock'd the sense of pain
Out of a grieved soul.

Thou straggler into loving arms,
Young climber-up of knees,
When I forget thy thousand ways
Then life and all shall cease.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

BOLSHEVIKI ASLEEP

[New York World]

The sooner the bolsheviki realize clearly that they can't have both credit and an acknowledgment of the principle of repudiation the better for all concerned. They are simply fools if they imagine that people will lend money to a government that glories in the revolutionary right not to pay its debts. And nothing can or will be done to help Russia until the bolsheviki drop this folly.

If they have any sense at all they will go to The Hague with a proposal to acknowledge their debts in principle, to compensate for confiscated property and with the draft of laws showing what legal guarantees they are prepared to offer foreigners entering Russia. Nobody with any knowledge of the facts expects all the past debts to be paid, capital and interest, but whatever reduction or cancellation takes place must be by arrangement with the creditors and not by fiat of the soviets. That is the only possible way to prepare the ground for new credits. And unless The Hague conference does prepare the ground for new credits it will be a failure.

OBEDIENCE TO LAW

[Providence Journal]

Two bishops of the Episcopal church have come out strongly in public utterances within the last few days in favor of obedience to the prohibition law, following Bishop Manning of New York. Bishop Perry of Rhode Island says:

"Enforcement is required by common loyalty and national integrity, and by that personal liberty which has its only safeguard in the protection which the law affords. The Christian church will not be content with a grudging acceptance of such a policy. We must require it because in the issue that it involves the whole principle of moral discipline is at stake. With it must stand or fall ultimately the enforcement of every law, the law of property which awaits enforcement against gambling, the law of domestic purity which is being flagrantly violated by wholesale divorce, and all those prohibitions which go to make up the defenses of human society."

The response to the bishop's words by the diocesan convention, yesterday, was expressed in a resolution of like force—declaring "unqualifiedly for obedience to said constitutional amendment and laws, and for the proper enforcement thereof by federal, state and local officers"; urging, too, "that all citizens having at heart the welfare of our nation and state shall not only obey the law themselves, but also insist upon its obedience by others."

There is no other consistent attitude to take. Bishop Lines of the diocese of Newark confirms Bishop Perry's views. He says that the eighteenth amendment is binding until it is repealed, and adds that while "many officials tell us that the laws cannot be enforced," "they do not seriously endeavor to execute them." On the subject of personal liberty he declares:

"Much of the talk about the restrictions of personal liberty is unworthy of respectful consideration. The talk of many people living in luxury in great houses, with more than their share of the world's goods, and about the wrong done the poor by prohibition is ridiculous."

These are timely utterances, and deserve to be followed by similar expressions of vigorous opinion from other leaders of religious and ethical thought throughout America.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA E. STEWART

We make such mountains out of mole hills! Queer, isn't it, that our vaunted education fails to teach more directness? We're all the time trying to settle perplexities in life without thought as to cause or logic as to effect. And in consequence, just as we think we have them all packed neatly and permanently in Pandora's box, bang! goes the cover off and we have it all to do over again. Do we learn from our failure? We do not. We attempt the very same thing over again with the very same result. Again and again go at it, until Hercules' efforts in the famed stables were as nothing to ours. Yet had we chosen the direct, just way how simple it all might have been!

Now we know, if we are not idiots, that all men want to be treated fairly. If we're employers, we know we are dealing with human beings who have a right to fair treatment and wage; that which we would expect were we in their place.

If we're employed, we know our employers are human beings who want fair treatment and honest work. We know that they have some qualities that we lack, else we would have climbed to a like position. Of course if we lack good sense, we'll at once insist that only fate has kept us down. The truth is that fate very seldom keeps any one down. She's as apt to be a friend as an enemy. We hold ourselves down by our ignorance or unfaithfulness or lack of ambition.

Yes, we know all this. But when it comes to daily practice it is too simple for us. So we plan various deviations, with profuse explanations and self-excuses for so doing. We quibble and equivocate and evade in our desire to shift the blame and "pass the buck." We argue and go to law and strike and evict and fight and denounce—all because we will not live in our lives the truth that we know in our hearts.

Yes, we do! None of us can afford to cast the first stone.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Thefts of automobiles are so frequent that liability to such loss is to be reckoned with seriously by every owner of a car. It is enough to cause reluctance to purchase. The automobile associations are doing all they can to lessen the evil. So are sheriffs and police. The combined efforts may not be said to be effective.

HENRY JAMES

Just as an illustration of how things are going in the larceny line it is cited that in May of last year 170 cars were stolen in Los Angeles alone. In May of the present year, similar thefts in the same city numbered 251.

The total of cars stolen there so far this year is given as 1095, with a valuation of over a million. Of these 631 have been recovered, but the loss of machines not recovered reaches half a million.

Cars of the better class are being chosen by the thieves. Many of these are used for purposes of robbery and a quick get away, being abandoned at the convenience of the robbers.

Owners of cars might help matters a little by locking their machines when they have occasion to leave them even for a short time.

Owners of garages could do their part by demanding to know the ownership of every car stored with them.

The rest is up to the sawed-off guns of the police.

Various business organizations have expressed their disapproval of the supreme court decision ordering separation of the Southern and Central Pacifics. It is possible they are a little premature, as even railroad men are in doubt as to the effect of the order.

However, this does not matter much. The supreme court is guided by law, and is not supposed to consider the manner in which its conclusions are likely to be received.

John P. is ready to debate any question in the world. His capacity for getting on the wrong side of it probably is without parallel. Years ago when he was a democratic editor in Iowa, and about the only one in the state, he challenged James G. Blaine, the latter then at the zenith of his career.

Blaine did not exactly decline. He merely failed to notice. This fact is called to the attention of Governor Stephens at whom the later challenge is directed.

It is estimated that there is one rat for each man, woman and child in New York city. This is a greater supply of rats than is necessary, and it is strange that it should be tolerated.

If an onslaught were made on the rodent population of New York with such energy as marked the campaign against mosquitoes in the canal zone, the plague doubtless could be banished.

Rats are both dangerous and expensive. The cost of supporting a rat for a year amounts to many dollars. Besides this the creature has a singular facility in spreading disease. New York should be ashamed of its army of rats.

Last winter was unusually wet all along the Pacific cosat. It was thought that enough of the moisture would be retained to serve as a safeguard against forest fires.

This does not seem to have been the case in the northwest, where precipitation is far greater than in southern California, for forest fires have been raging there already, and millions of feet of lumber destroyed.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

I'll name no names, but the other day I was reading the published reminiscences of a man who has filled a conspicuous place in this world during the past forty years. In the book he told of the death of another man who has filled almost as great a niche.

"I found him in a Turkish bathhouse," said the writer, "waiting for death. He would not let me remove him to what seemed to me more comfortable quarters. He said he was used to the place and that, after all, the end would not be long deferred."

The real pathos of the story did not penetrate me at the time. Later on, when I learned a little more of his history, I found that he had begun life as a fairly well to do man. He had always made money. He had lived luxuriously, but far from impairing his capital, it had been constantly added to. The day that he died he had money enough to have commanded every possible service and attention that can be bought for money——

Ah! "That can be bought for money." But the things that can be bought for money in this life, delightful as they are, much as we all covet them, are after all not the best things that life holds. He had never married. He was a cynic about women. Perhaps his cynicism was justified. Certainly it was justified of the women with whom he had come in contact. He knew no others, for he had never sought the other sort.

He had a house of his own, but a hired servant is a hired servant, whether in a private home or a public bath. As his weakness grew he determined that he would be more surely cared for in the public bath, where his careless friends would see him from time to time. I say his careless friends, for he had no other sort. He had repelled friendship. He was liked, admired, courted, but as he grew ill the admirers forgot him and the courtiers fell away. He had not one friend of the old-fashioned sturdy sort. He was alone in the world. He died alone.

He had preferred to live the lonely life. He had rejected love and friendship and had no doubt been happy. But at the very last, during those days in which he waited for death upon the pallet of a public bath, he must have been a very lonely man.

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

Automobiles in Japan are taxed according to horse power based on cylinder bore. This places the cheapest American car in the same class as the highest priced European make, as the American cars have wider cylinders.

HELD ON SUSPICION

On complaint of Harry Westberg, architect, living at 2121 Reservoir street, Los Angeles, Patrolman Hutchinson brought to the police station last night Varney Ferris, 4311 Toland way, Los Angeles. Ferris is being held on suspicion of theft.

This morning Ferris' parents were notified and were in consultation with Chief of Police Fraser, Detective Sergeants Stine and Royle, who are investigating the charges against the young man. Ferris' father is partially blind and a deaf mute. His mother is also a deaf mute.

A Negro charged with stealing a watch had been arraigned before the court. The judge, not convinced that he was guilty, said: "You are acquitted, sam."

"judge?"

"Acquitted," repeated Sam, doubtfully. "What wo you mean, "That's the sentence; you are acquitted."

Still looking somewhat confused, Sam said: "Judge, does dat mean I have to give the watch back?"

WOMEN DISCUSS STATE SOLDIER BONUS

Auxiliary of Legion to Urge Measure and Registration

The American Legion Auxiliary held an excellent meeting Monday night in Legion hall, with Mrs. Day presiding. The attendance was good, and several matters of interest were discussed, chiefly promotion work for the carrying of the bond issue for the soldier bonus, to be voted upon in the fall. One of the chief means of helping will be by urging voters to register and thus be able to vote for it.

A committee was named to meet with a Legion committee tonight in the office of Commander McBryde at 111 East Broadway, where plans will be discussed for a membership drive for both Legion and Auxiliary. Another matter to be discussed will be ways and means of aiding the Legion carry out its project to secure the sanitarium site for a Legion building.

Every member of the committee was strongly urged to be present at the conference, which is of great importance to both organizations.

MOTHER GOOSE KIN IN PAGEANT AT INTERMEDIATE

All Her Merry Folks to Be Shown by 350 Children

All the tales of childhood and the nursery will be seen in a pageant entitled "Mother Goose's Birthday Celebration," which will be given on the grounds of the Intermediate school tonight. About 350 city school children will take part and it promises to be one of the most elaborate affairs of its kind ever put on in Glendale.

The program will be divided into two parts: First, the scenes of Babyland; second, the Mother Goose Episodes of the Grimm's Fairy Tales. Among the episodes will be Baby Bunting, the Man in the Moon, the Wise Willie Winkin, the Dream Peddler, the Mother Goose episodes, Humpty-Dumpty, Bo-Peep, Boy Blue, Old Woman in the Shoe, Tommy Tucker, Jack Sprat, Jack and Jill and their kindred relatives of Mother Goose.

Purely Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Balin and daughter of Los Angeles were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Thomas of 339 West Milford street. This was Mr. and Mrs. Balin's first trip to Glendale and they were delighted with the city and the beautiful hills surrounding it.

Miss Lucille Edmund of Los Angeles was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Thomas of 339 West Milford street.

Mr. and Mrs. James William Horne of 1445 Valley View road, left for the North, Sunday, where Mr. Horne will direct the picture, "The Modern Madonna." Mrs. Horne, known on the screen as Cleo Ridgely, takes the leading part. They will be gone six weeks or more and most of the scenes will be taken at the Pacific Studio at San Mateo.

C. St. John from Boston, Mass., is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones, 430 West Vine street. Mr. St. John is general agent for the Santa Fe at Boston.

Mrs. J. Stuchburry of San Bernardino is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Monaghan of 520 North Louise street. She will visit in Glendale for about a week.

The Sisterhood class of the First Methodist church will meet in the church parlors Thursday afternoon at 2:30 for their regular business meeting and class social.

The Cerritos Avenue P.-T. A. will hold their regular meeting Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The program will be put on by the kiddies of the school, some of whom will attend the new Intermediate school on Glendale avenue, next year, and it promises to be a good one.

It was Friday afternoon and almost time for school to be dismissed. The teacher was somewhat relaxed as well as the children, and to occupy the remaining time pleasantly, he proposed that he be asked questions. "If I fail to answer your questions," he said, "I will give the asker sixpence. Fire away, boys!"

One smart lad responded. "Please, sir, why am I like a dead horse?" The schoolmaster thought hard. "H'm, that's a hard one," he said. "A dead horse—well, I give it up." The boy hesitated. "Please, sir, it's because I'm waiting for the tanner."

CONTRACTORS ARE GUESTS OF LUMBER COMPANY

Addressed by Big Builder Bureau General Manager

Builders and contractors of Glendale, to the number of fifty, were entertained Monday evening by the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company with a dinner in the banquet hall of the Chamber of Commerce. It was held at 6:30 and was followed by a remarkable address on commerce, construction and contracting by F. H. Beckman, who is vice president and general manager of the National Builders' bureau. He is a man of wide experience and national reputation.

He emphasized the importance of contractors assisting those who contemplate building in every way possible. Said he:

"The average man or woman who desires a home must be helped to put his or her ideas into the plan, and from this plan some builder or contractor can arrive at the total cost of construction."

He urged contractors and material dealers to co-operate with the builders to the fullest extent in order that the client may receive the maximum value for the minimum cost.

"We must encourage our people to build," he said. "The only way we can encourage home building is by helping the home-seekers to solve their problems."

The speaker especially referred to the excellent plan service department of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company, which effects a material saving in dollars and cents to both the contractor and the builder, enabling the client to see a picture of the finished product.

Tentative steps were taken toward the formation of a builders' and contractors' club to promote the interests of all concerned, but no definite action was taken.

Mr. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the duties of a chamber of commerce in serving a community. He urged co-operation on the part of all who have to do with meeting the needs of citizens.

The guests felt they were highly fortunate to be present at such an excellent banquet as was served by the hosts, and also very fortunate in the opportunity to hear Mr. Beckman.

W. P. Potter acted as toastmaster in a most efficient manner, introducing the speakers and promoting the social enjoyment of the occasion.

FILM OF PAGEANT AT TUESDAY CLUB BENEFIT

Performance of Glendale Theatre Friday, to Be Worth While Show

Glendalians are urged not to miss the chance of seeing the film reproduction of the beautiful historical pageant depicting California history, which was given in Yosemite national park in 1921 while the Federation of Women's Clubs was in session there, and in which all the most prominent club women in the state took part. The passage of the pageant, which was put on in a sumptuous manner consumed the greater part of one day. It will be a treat to the thousands prevented from witnessing it then to gaze upon it in this form. It is being given under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the Glendale theatre Friday afternoon at 3:30, and as a benefit for the fund to place a monument to the memory of Mrs. Taylor, founder of the club, in the new clubhouse which the organization is about to build.

COURSES FOR TEACHERS

To meet the demands of Southern California teachers, agricultural courses have been provided in the Southern Branch of the Summer Session by the University of California College of Agriculture.

Dr. E. Lawrence Palmer, Professor of Rural Education, Cornell University, and editor of the Cornell Rural School Leaflets, will offer a course for city and country supervisors and normal school teacher and teacher college instructors in nature study.

Mr. Clayton F. Palmer, supervisor of elementary agriculture in the Los Angeles city schools, will give two courses of special interest to teachers of elementary agriculture, and school and home gardening.

"Every child," said Thomas [illegible] Hunt, dean of the University of California College of Agriculture in an interview today, "should have an opportunity to become acquainted with the animate and inanimate features or his environment for cultural as well as practical reasons. The foundation of more efficient future science training can be laid by means of sound instruction in nature study during the first six school years. School and home gardening for pupils in the seventh and eighth grades of city and town schools is the most practical approach to the study of agriculture. It is just as much the purpose of school gardening to make these future citizens into efficient and intelligent consumers as it is to arouse an interest in farming."

Teachers interested in the agricultural courses offered in the Southern Branch should write to the Dean of Summer Session Southern Branch, Los Angeles.

These distinct markings made to insure the replace- t of the connections in the er manner in case there is a ssity for removing them, as battery must always be ged in the same direction. n again, in the receiving vac- tube set it is very essential that the positive side of your bat- tery be connected to the proper terminals, as the set would not op- erate satisfactorily if the connec- tions were reversed. When a charging current is sent through a cell, the action is as follows: The acid which has combined with the active material is forced out of the plates into the electrolyte, thus raising the specific gravity of the latter and affording direct indica- tion of the state of the charge. When practically all of this acid has been transferred from the ac- tive material to the electrolyte, the cell is said to be fully charged and should then give a reading of 1.275 to 1.300 on a hydrometer. The foregoing, of course, refers to the initial charge. After the cell has once been discharged, the ac- tive material of both groups of plates has been converted into lead sulphate. The action on charge, then, consists of driving the acid out of the plates and at the same time reconverting the lead sulphate into peroxide of lead on the positive plates and spongy metallic lead on the negative plates. (To be continued)

NOTICE

If this page falls a little short of its usual merit, it is hoped that you will overlook it this one time, as there is a very good reason, which will, no doubt, be found elsewhere in the paper, and the radio editor is badly in need of some good sleep.

PRESS-NEWTON RADIO STATION

The latest dope concerning the new broadcasting station is to the effect that the complete telephone set was shipped either Saturday or Monday from San Francisco. It doesn't take long for it to travel from San Francisco to Los An- geles, so it will no doubt be here in short order. The counterpoise is practically finished now, owing to a complete day's work being put forth upon it, and as for the aerial, it is needless to say that it is completed with the exception of straightening some of the wires in the flat top, as no doubt most of you have seen it. The equipment when it arrives will be installed at once by the Newton Electric company, who will also do all of the wiring.

WOULDN'T IT BE GREAT?

IF:

Tires weren't a necessity on au- tomobiles? Of course, this doesn't pertain to radio, but wouldn't it be great?

PHUNNY STUFF

Puts 'Em to Sleep

"Voros, a Hungarian hypnotist, will carry on his work via radio- phone," says the Brooklyn Eagle, and adds, "he has already succeed- ed in putting people to sleep by telephone." Some people can put whole audiences to sleep without either telephone or radiophone.

Program for Saturday Evening

C O D (New York)—2:00 p. m., score by innings, Mutual Welfare league. 2:30 p. m., concert, "The Cover Charge of the White Light Brigade," by Head Waiters' Male Quartet. 3:30 p. m., address by George Harvey, "Diplomatic Se- crets, or Do I use Ladies' or Men's Stockings When Dressing for a Court Function?" 3:31 p. m., pro- tests at Harvey's speech, by United States senate. 4:30 p. m., exhibition of fancy crocheted work. 5:45 p. m., juggling and wire walking by Goldberg, Kelly and Krantzlein, direct from Shu- tage's circuit. 7:30 p. m., choir singing, "Ohm, Sweet Ohm," by Westinghouse double quartet. 9:00 p. m., daily shooting quartet from Hollywood, Calif.

Barbs on Wire to Catch Waves

One of the radio hounds suggests that aerial wires be fitted with barbs to aid in catching the waves. He probably remembers the re- sults of climbing a fence while stealing watermelons.

SIDELIGHTS

"These young fellows are not fooling with any mere toy. They are training their ingenuity and inventiveness, the qualities that have made America the leader in scientific and technical progress and they are adding to their own powers by developing these facul- ties.

"Young men who have formed this wholesome and developing in- terest are not going to settle down and work in any routine way. When they see a job of work to be done, they will put their wits upon it, the same as they have into making and operating radio ap- paratus. They will want to think out better and less expensive ways of doing things.

"Parents ought to encourage boys to go in for such experiments as they lead to mental enlargement and higher ideals of accomplish- ments."

Training the voice for talking into broadcasting instruments is another feature of the radiophone. Are we to develop a crop of human megaphones? The Detroit Free Press mentions this side of the ra- diophone as follows:

"The radiophone is responsible for an interesting vocal phoenom- enon. This is the radiophone voice, developed through use of the receiving attachments that re- produce the sounds snared from the air. It is understandable that the wearer of a headpiece should have difficulty in distinguishing normal and abnormal tones of speech when addressing anyone. This is particularly true when- there is a considerable volume of sound coming over the radiophone, as in the case of an orchestra or a pipe organ. Nevertheless it is a bit disconcerting to have one be- low a reply to an inquiry, and then wonder why everyone in the vicin- ity is startled by the outburst. The serious part of this is that the practice is quite unconsciously in- dulged in at times when the speaker is far removed from the radiophone.

"Which may well give rise to wonderment as to whether we are about to raise a crop of human megaphones, or whether when the radiophone becomes more common people will naturally readjust man- ner of speech to establish stand- ards."

It has been a question for some time in just what field the radio- phone will develop and just where it will be most efficient. Com- menting on this phase of the sub- ject the Herald (Garden City, Kan.,) says:

"The radiophone is a new pub- licity agent which literally has ev- erybody 'by the ears.' It imme- diately takes its place with the telegraph, telephone, postoffice, press, pulpit, public school and theater as a means of reaching the public and its possibilities are ob- viously so great that it cannot be regarded as a plaything or a pass- ing fad.

"The telephone has not sup- planted the telegraph and radio is not likely to supplant either. It is already in general use for trans- oceanic communication and this application will be extended, but the radio will not under present conditions supersede the telegraph or telephone for obvious reasons."

Radio may be a fad or a hobby, but it is one of the most instruc- tive of the kind. The owner of a set not only learns through experi- ments, but the news and concerts he receives are most instructive. The Star (Pinestone, Minn.,) speaks of instruction as follows:

"Science is opening a new world to us through the development of the radio. In the very near future the world's greatest singers, to- gether with the great symphony concerts, may be heard in your own home with the exactness of the original, and practically all long-distance communication will be carried on by means of the ra- diophone."

Taken from Radio Digest.

RECEIVING SETS DO NOT RUN ALONE

Some Work Needed to Obtain Best Results

Many of the people clamoring for radiophones think that in buy- ing a set the requirements are to put the thing on a table, run a wire to the roof and then sit back and enjoy the music. If we will just stop and think for a moment we will find that all things do not come that easy.

A radio set is not a bit different from the automobile. It takes time to learn how to operate it to the best advantage. The best results are obtained from a radiophone after it has been in use several weeks and after doing consider- able experimentation.

It must be remembered that re- ceivers are in two classes, crystal sets and vacuum tube sets. The vacuum tube will cause less trou- ble from weak signals, but it is harder to operate. So far, the crystal set is not reliable for long distances. A good piece of mineral must be used in the crystal set, for it is the heart of the apparatus. The cat whisker detector must be handled carefully and if a good spot is found one must try not to jar or disturb the adjustment. There are only one or two knobs to turn on the crystal set and for this reason the tuning is not dif- ficult.

CONCERT QUALITY FIXED BY THE PUBLIC

The Kind of Concerts May Be Chosen by the Public

Now that radio has been popular for some time and it begins to shape itself into something more than just a fad, as it was first labeled, the quality of the concerts should become more fixed. It is obvious that the experience gleaned from the first year's ex- perience in broadcasting is proof enough that the public demands the programs to be the best that can be produced.

The sources of material for ra- diophone broadcasting are unlimit- ed. Many of these have been tried to improve the quality of the enter- tainment with more or less suc- cess. The principal idea is, how- ever, to find just what the people want, then give it in the best pos- sible manner.

This may at first glance appear to be an easy matter. However, each concert has brought forth numerous letters by which the of- ficials are given some idea of pub- lic opinion and the type of enter- tainment best liked. The burden is on the radio audience to de- termine what they want to hear. There is no really satisfactory way unless its wishes are known. To criticize is easy, but to suggest is helpful to everyone concerned. Owners of radiophone receiving sets should express their opinion to the broadcasting station fur- nishing them with regular pro- grams.

EFFECT ON OTHER ENTER- TAINMENTS

The Radiophone Draws Many From Their Usual Form of Pleasure

There is no question but what radio does affect the attendance at concerts and musicals and the movies and will doubtless reduce the attendance to lectures and the pulpit.

The stimulus of applause is lack- ing for the artist, when speaking or singing to an unseen audience. He has no thrill, yet it is a com- pensation that he is not chilled by the stony glare that sometimes meets the artist. There are many advantages for the audience. There is no question but what a person has been bored many times at musical recitals and lectures just because he attends with the family, but with the radio he has a chance to make a get-away or cut off the set.

Many of the young men and boys who were active in athletics in former years have forsaken base- ball and tennis for radio. Just how far this will affect athletics will be watched with interest.

HAWAIIAN CONGRESSMAN ASSUMES DUTIES

Congressman Harry A. Baldwin of Hawaii has arrived in Washing- ton to assume his official duties. He is pictured here with his wife.

The plaintiff, a voluble Italian, talked as fast as his knowledge of English would permit.

Looking down at the court sten- ographer the Italian noticed for the first time that his testimony was being reduced to writing (the stenographer was trying his best to keep up), and thereupon began to talk faster than ever, until final- ly he burst forth:

"Don't write-a so fas; I can't-a keep up with you."

A young Australian reporter was left in charge of the news room one evening. Suddenly he was con- fronted with, to him, an inexplica- ble cable from England.

It ran: "Lincoln, 3.50 Dean Swift Obit Roseate Dawn," and was, in fact, the result of a race which had been run that day.

Knowing nothing about racing, and feeling bound to justify his ex- istence, the inventive youth had the following inspired paragraph inserted in the paper next morn- ing:

"We regret to announce the death at Lincoln at 3.50 yesterday afternoon of the Very Reverend Dean Swift, the author of the well- known hymn, "The Roseate Hues of Early Dawn."

A BAD SPIDER MAKES A GOOD MEAL

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

Now you know why the wind didn't steal Frisk Squirrel's precious swimming-feather out of the careless crack he tucked it into when his mammy called him. It was because the fat old black spider, who wanted that very crack to snooze in, didn't want the feather. But she hadn't sense enough to see the wind was trying to take it out. She just knew it cables on it and tied it still.

Then she waddled out on her eight skinny legs and slipped down the telegraph wire, which ran from her sleeping place to the middle of the zigzag ladder up and down her web. There she toasted her humped-up back and twiddled her jaws to keep them supple in case they had something to work on. She wasn't surely expecting anything, because it was daytime. Still, you never can tell when a stupid grasshopper will leap before he looks, or when a butterfly may come sailing by, steering past the leaves for fear he'll cut his tender wings on them, but not paying much attention to anything as fine as the shiny silk threads that are spread to catch him. But she certainly didn't expect what she did get.

First thing she knew, her telegraph-line began twitching. She peered about the web; there was nobody in it. Her crack then? Z-z-zip! She shinned up her wire just as fast as she had slid down. She landed right under the whiskers of Frisk Squirrel.

He was examining the sticky spider-silk that stuck to his little paw with a very dubious expression. What was holding that feather? Why wouldn't it come when he tugged at it? For he cables were strong enough to give a wee fluff-tail almost as much trouble as they gave the wind. And who—who was this awful creature that came charging the air, without any wings, grabbing at him with her hairy arms, gnashing her jaws at him?

He leaped to the nearest branch and craned his neck down, chattering with fear and rage. "Mimme that fezzer," he shreiked. "It's mine's, it's mine's, you horrid ugly thing. Daddy Duck, Daddy Duck!" (You'll notice he didn't call his mother to help him.)

But Daddy Green-crest wasn't within earshot. It was Bobby Robin who came swooping down. "'Lo, youngster," he chirped. "What's wrong?"

"It took mine's fezzer and it's making moufs at me." Frisk complained.

"Where?" Bobby asked. "Oh,

Gulp. "Yum! Good Eating, That Was." The Spider Was Gone

don't you want it? Thanks, Fluff-tail." Gulp. "Yum. Good eating, that was." The spider was gone.

NEXT STORY—FRISK KEEPS HIS NOSE OUT OF TROUBLE.

HOME GARDENING MAGIC COURSE

Ambitious amateur gardeners will be given an opportunity for practical study this summer at the University of California, Southern Branch, where Mr. Clayton F. Palmer, supervisor of elementary agriculture in Los Angeles city schools, will show what magic results from the most improved methods in planting and garden care.

The courses offered in gardening will be adapted to prospective and actual teachers of agriculture and horticulture, and also to the home lover who merely wants to make his garden a more "lovesome spot." The secrets of preventing plant diseases and insect pests will be revealed, and every incentive offered to make homes and grounds the fragrant, cool and sheltered places they should be.

Students and auditors are already being enrolled, and the university offices at 831 Pacific Finance building are sending out quantities of bulletins upon request.

NEW BOOKS IN CITY LIBRARY

Standard and Reference Works Added Under Appropriation

(By GERTRUDE GIBBS)

The city library has become a different place since the city trustees increased its book allowance. It is now accumulating treasures of literature and works of reference so rapidly it is hard for the public to keep up with them, let alone the library staff, which has to catalogue and prepare the volumes for their place on the shelves. Among the more recent notable volumes are:

"Insect Behavior" by Paul Griswold Howes, illustrated by the author, and while scientifically accurate, written in a vein light enough to be entertaining to the unscientific.

Additions have also been made to the travel collection. There is "The Wonderland of the East," by William Copeman Kitchin, and one of the "See America First" series. It describes in a vivid and entertaining way the mountains and lakes of New England and New York.

"Virginia, the Old Dominion" by Frank and Cortelle Hutchins, gives a picture of the old historic waterway, the River James. It is a book which will appeal to all loyal Americans.

Now that aeronautics is a recognized feature of civil life and flying is becoming a pastime, there is a call for a history of the art. Such a history has been written by E. C. Vivian (formerly editor of "Flying"), in collaboration with W. Lockwood Marsh. It covers aviation from its legendary period to the present, and gives the technical side special treatment, particularly with regard to the internal combustion engine. It is richly illustrated with photographs and diagrams and written in a very readable style.

"Water Color Painting" is a manual which should prove of great value to students. It is written by one of the best living painters in that medium. The illustrations are all calculated to be helpful and methods are clearly explained.

A book of reference which will appeal to clergymen and public speakers generally, is the "Dictionary of Classified Quotations," both English and foreign.

As the library now contains J. R. Capablanca's "Chess Fundamentals," we can all learn to play that deep game. The principles are so clearly explained that the novice can understand.

Probably no English woman has been more in the limelight of late than Margot Asquith, and certainly no literary work has been more talked about than her autobiography. It is sensational and frank to the point of indiscretion, according to the British viewpoint. Those who have not had opportunity to read it will be glad to know it is in the Glendale library.

Mothers and teachers of little folk will be pleased to know about the "Kindergarten Stories" by Laura Ella Cragin, now to be found on the shelves. The volume contains 64 stories of wide range and many pictures.

"The Nursery School" by Margaret McMillan, has a foreword by Prof. Patty Smith Hill, which describes the volume as "an absorbing account of an experiment in child saving which warms the heart with its evidence of intelligent insight and sympathy with young children in the slums of London."

A new series of Irish dramas is to be found in "The Image, and Other Plays" by Lady Gregory, the other plays being "Hanrahan's Oath," "Shanwalla," and "The Wrens." They have been highly commended by Bernard Shaw for taking the listener out of himself and away from the artificial atmosphere of the stuffy theatre, and also for being extremely amusing.

Lovers of James Oppenheim will be interested in knowing that his poems, which are very modern, have been collected in a volume entitled "The Book of Self," and it is in our local library. It has been characterized as the most notable contribution to American verse.

"Kinding Your Job" is, as its title indicates, intended to be a help to the man seeking a business or profession. It was written by Norman G. Shidle.

A delightful addition to Lincoln literature is the book "Why Lincoln Laughed" by Russell H. Conwell, one of the few men now living who met the great emancipator on intimate terms during his moments of relaxation.

Another addition to the library's collection of dramas is the book of five plays by Lord Dusany, three of which have been produced successfully in London. By many good judges Lord Dusany is regarded as the greatest living writer of one-act plays. He brings to his work an originality and viewpoint that are refreshing, and with these qualities a depth of thought not often found in such vehicles.

VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN NOTES TO CEASE SOON

3¾ Paper Comes Under Redemption Notice Issued by Treasury

Interest on all 3¾ per cent Victory Liberty loan notes will cease on June 15, 1922, in accordance with the "notice of redemption" issued by the secretary of the treasury and regularly published in daily papers of this district, commencing Thursday, February 9, 1922.

In "calling" the 3¾ per cent Victory notes for redemption on June 15 next (nearly a year before their maturity on May 20, 1923), the government is exercising the following option, reserved in Treasury Department Circular No. 138, announcing and prescribing the terms under which the Victory Liberty loan was offered on April 21, 1919:

"The notes (Victory) may be redeemed, at the option of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the secretary of the treasury may prescribe, on June 15 or December 15, 1922, in whole or in part, as to either or both series, at par and accrued interest, on four months' notice of redemption given in such manner as the secretary of the treasury shall prescribe."

In view of the foregoing, it behooves all owners or holders of outstanding 3¾ per cent Victory notes to present them for redemption not later than the middle of June, 1922, because these notes will not earn any interest after that date. Redemptions can be effected through any bank or trust company in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, or by direct application to the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco or its branches at Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, Spokane and Salt Lake City.

It will likewise be advantageous for the public to know that they can invest the proceeds of these redemptions (up to $4000 cash) profitably and with equal safety in not exceeding $5000 maturity value of the new issue of 4½ per cent treasury savings certificates. These certificates mature in five years from the date purchased, and are issued in three denominations: A $25 certificate can be bought for $20, a $100 certificate for $80 and $1000 certificate for $800. Therefore they cannot depreciate in value; they are also registered, which fully protects the owner against theft, fire or loss of any kind. They are exempt from state and local taxation (except estate and inheritance taxes) and from the normal federal income tax. The government cannot "call" these certificates for redemption prior to maturity, but the treasury will, if desired, redeem them on demand any time before maturity, at values designated on the back of each certificate, equivalent to the price paid, plus interest at about 3½ per cent per year, compounded semi-annually.

Any banking institution can obtain treasury savings certificates for itself or its customers from the nearest Federal Reserve Bank or money-order postoffice, and other corporations or individuals also enjoy the same privilege.

If you fail to advertise adequately, the tenant you ought to have may decide upon a place which will not suit him half so well as your property would.

DOROTHY PEART HEADS ESTHERS

Members of the Queen Esther class of the First Methodist Sunday school met Monday afternoon at the home of Carmen Doyle for a cafeteria supper and election of officers. There was no program, but just a social good time.

Dorothy Peart was elected president and Pauline Wilson, secretary. The July meeting will be a picnic at Brookside park. Those present were Carmen Doyle, the hostess; Hazel Wilson, Pauline Wilson, Murray Longley, Janet Cecil, Charlotte Cleveland, Esther Jones, Madeline Love and Mrs. Scripps, the leader of the class.

SCHOOL PENNANT GAME WEDNESDAY

The city championship in baseball for senior teams is to be decided Wednesday afternoon in a final game between the teams of Doran Street school and Cerritos on the Cerritos field. It will be a great day in school circles and should attract many onlookers and fans.

STEEL CARS TO STOP STEALING

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 6.—A "community" 3-inch armor plated motor truck, equipped with placements for riot guns, will appear on the streets of St. Louis shortly, to prevent rapidly increasing bank messenger holdups.

A chauffeur and one or two armed guards will ride inside. A safe will also be carried.

"Jesse James was a piker compared with the bandit of today," declared A. H. Heller, vice-president of the Bremen bank, in revealing the co-operative plans of the nine banks and trust companies to cope with the outlaws.

The majority of the institutions have been the victims once or more times of the bandits' depredations during the past year. During holdups of the banks themselves have lately been succeeded by equally daring robberies of bank messengers on the streets and trolley cars.

An occasional look at your boy's room may explain why he is on the street so much.

TUJUNGA SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS NEW TEACHERS

Graduation Day Exercises to Be Held on Next Friday, June 9

TUJUNGA, June 6.—At its meeting last night the school board discussed matters in connection with the closing of the school term on next Friday, June 9. The application of Frederick Axe for the principalship of the school has been accepted by the board. Mr. Axe will take the place of G. Wheeler Smith of Grand Valley, Colorado, who had previously been appointed to the position by the board, but who was forced to resign on account of illness in his family. The new principal is very highly recommended and is now completing special work in the University of California, Southern Branch. He expects to make his home here during the coming term.

Mrs. C. G. Reilly and Mrs. Walter Franke, both of Tujunga, are additional teachers appointed by the board in addition to Mrs. D. A. Johnston, Mrs. E. A. Miller and Mrs. Louise Colby, who continue in their positions from last year.

Graduation exercises are to be held in the Garden of the Moon on Friday. Presentation of diplomas will take place at 11 a. m., followed by a picnic dinner and games and a program during the afternoon. Coffee is to be served by the Parent-Teachers' Association, and everyone in the community is invited.

Fiesta for Woman's Club

Plans are under way by the Woman's Club for a June fiesta, to be given on June 20, the proceeds of which will be for the benefit of the building fund. It is planned to hold the all-day entertainment in the Garden of the Moon, where lunch and dinner will be served. A program with several unusual features is being prepared. Invitations to be sent to out-of-town friends are in the hands of Mrs. B. B. Reynolds.

At the last meeting of the Woman's Club it was decided to not take the customary recess this summer on account of the great amount of work necessary in raising funds for the proposed clubhouse.

"UP AND GOING" AT THE GLENDALE

All boy scouts and all lovers of outdoor life will be especially interested in a picture that is showing at the Glendale theatre today, Wednesday and Thursday, with Tom Mix, the famous Fox star. It is called "Up and Going," and the title explains the general character of the picture—full of action, and running over.

Yet that is not the principal attraction that it holds. When William Fox assigned Mix to make this production, he told him he wanted some real Northwest atmosphere in the country of the famous Royal Mounted Police. So Tom took his company up into British Columbia.

The result is the most beautiful picture, from a scenic standpoint, that Mix has ever turned out. There are water, forest and mountain scenes as a background for an exciting story, and followers of the wild trails will find many little tips on living in the open, and how to meet emergencies that are bound to occur.

"Up and Going," while a picture full of spirited action, is built along lines different from those of the usual Mix picture.

APRIL AND MAY AND JUNE

Sometimes I think that April is the month I like the best.
Its flowers and birds and buds and leaves seem brighter than the rest.
I sit out under her blue sky and breathe her scented air,
And I think there's no other month is ever quite as fair.
Yes, when it's April and the buds and blossoms start to stir,
There's something makes me think no month can quite compare with her,
When grass is green and buds are thick and bird sing in the trees
I know it's April and I know no days compare wi these.

And then it comes on May, when skies are richer, clearer blue,
And flowers are richer then, it seems, and the May blossoms too;
It's coming nearer Summer then, and all the way along
The days are splashed with color rich and birds sing sweeter song;
And then I kind o' change my mind, and I like May the best,
It seems a little fairer, bluer, better than the rest.
Between the two months in the Spring it's kind o' hard to say,
But I'm inclined to think April's not quite as fine as May.

And then the June time comes along, with all the roses fair.
And just a little bit more scent and perfume in the air.
The air's so soft and sweet and mild, the world is all in tune,
And I don't know—I kind o' think it's pretty fine in June.
The days are well nigh perfect then, and evenings long and sweet
With odors and the songs of birds in June are hard to beat,
And May and April both were fine, and I thought each was best,
But now it's June I kind o' think June's better'n all the rest!

The Problem of Asthma

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.

(Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers.)

Asthma still constitutes a perplexing problem for the medical profession. This because, like epilepsy, asthma is not so much a disease in itself as a symptom indicative of a diseased condition that may be due to any one of numerous causes.

Thus there is asthma due to heart disease, asthma due to kidney disease, and asthma due to direct interference with breathing as a result of some pulmonary disease. Also there is what is known as neurotic asthma, brought on through extreme self-suggestibility.

Besides which, there is a type of asthma due to abnormal sensitiveness to dust, the pollen of hay, weeds, flowers, etc. Still further, it has of late been found that in some people there is an intolerance for certain foods, the eating of which will provoke asthmatic attacks. And, even more recently, evidence has been adduced pointing to poisoning from decayed and abscessed teeth as a cause of asthma.

In one case of this sort, reported by a New York physician, Dr. G. A. Rueck, in the New York Medical Journal, a woman had suffered more or less from asthma for nearly ten years. No adequate cause for this could be found, and she remained unrelieved until, in the summer of 1920, on Dr. Rueck's advice, she underwent radical and long-needed dental treatment.

For years she had been neglecting her teeth, which had gradually decayed. So extensvie and serious was the decay that the dentist found it necessary to extract all the bicuspids and molars of the lower jaw, also the three left upper molars, which were badly abscessed. This work having been completed, not only did the patient's general health improve, but she became entirely free from asthma.

In another case, in which asthmatic attacks had been recurring for four years, Dr. Rueck discovered that the patient, a middle-aged woman, had had a long history of throat infections, and that a number of her teeth were so decayed that their removal seemed advisable.

The patient, however, refused to consider any operative treatment. That is, she refused to consider it for several months, or until her asthma became unbearable. Then she permitted the decayed teeth to be drawn—and with them went her asthma.

But why, it may asked, should decayed and abscessed teeth cause asthma? Here, somewhat shortened, is Dr. Rueck's answer:

"The pus of the apical abscesses containing many proteins is absorbed. The body finally becomes saturated in proteins. Changes of the blood occur. Poor blood weakens all the body cells.

"Even the heart muscle gets weaker. The heart does not pump the blood through the body quickly enough. The lungs become congested, and respiratory difficulty results."

Whatever the mechanism involved, it would seem clear that in decayed and abscessed teeth doctors, indeed, have another factor to reckon with as regards the asthma problem. And certainly, with so many factors to be taken into account, it is not surprising that they do not always find it easy to determine just why a given patient is asthmatic.

VALENTINO AND SWANSON HERE

"Beyond the Rocks," the Elinor Glyn love romance, starring Rodolph Valentino and Gloria Swanson, is the big film attraction at the T. D. & L. theatre today. Unquestionably one of the finest productions ever filmed, this picture offers adventure, love, romance, thrills and drama—everything the public demands in a picture. Besides, it is lavishly produced. Miss Swanson wears a number of gorgeous gowns.

The combination of Valentino and Swanson is one of much public interest and affords, in such a romance as "Beyond the Rocks," just the culmination expected from such a co-starring duo.

PAN-PACIFIC MEET AT HONOLULU

HONOLULU, June 6.—California, Oregon and Washington, British Columbia and the countries bordering on the Pacific in Central and South America will be invited to send delegates to the Pan-Pacific Commercial conference to be held in Honolulu this fall.

This will be the fourth of a series of conferences held under the auspices of the Pan-Pacific Union. Last year, at the request of the department of the interior, the secretary of state invited the various Pacific governments to send delegates to the first Pan-Pacific Educational conference.

The conference this fall will be attended by financial and commercial leaders from the United States, other North and South American countries, and nations of the Orient, it is hoped. It is believed that practically all nations will be represented when the conference opens.

REV. PRESTON PLANS COMMUNITY CHURCH

A community church is the ambition of the Rev. Harley G. Preston, pastor of the Pacific Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. He is making a drive for new members with this idea in mind and is meeting with success.

The Rev. Preston is canvassing the neighborhood of his church for new members from among the people that have moved to Glendale from other communities, but have not affiliated with any church. He has several people that have signified their intention of affiliating with the church represented by him on Sunday, June 11.

The Rev. Preston says that a community church to be a success must be backed by some church of a definite faith. While the church is backing the community movement all faiths are respected and invited to affiliate. The Rev. Preston says that in his drive for new members he is calling on and urging those people to affiliate with who are not members of any church or have not affiliated with a church in this city. Members of other churches are not being asked to join.

THE CHRISTIAN WALK DESCRIBED

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, spoke from the subject, "And Enoch Walked With God." (Gen. 5: 24.)

"The secret of Enoch's life is told in three words," he said. "The rarest thing in this world is to see people walking with God. They are walking all other ways. In going through this chapter, wherein Enoch is found, we see it like a leafless forest, his life standing out from the others as one great green tree. What a thing to be a big Christian in such a day as this!

"The walk is indication of the character. Which way are you headed? What is to be your destination? Many are they that go the broad way. A man is known by the company he walks with. It makes a difference whether you are walking for God, as if for wages, or with God. He shall supply all your need, walking by your side; and it will be every day and all days.

"Enoch walked with God in harmony, in humility, in holiness. Harmony is the life of obedience, the life that without noise or friction works easily and freely under the divine will. Electricity can sit at my feet like a kitten if it is under law and made obedient. The telephone is our servant. The will that says, 'I won't,' can't come into harmony. It is the normal thing for the life to be under God's laws and so in harmony, walking with Him.

"Now humility: Why should we take this word and misconstrue it, as of a bowing bulrush? Don't try to be humble; you will make a mess of it. Humility has nothing to do with trying to be little. The low foothills around the mountain peak are part of the mountain. God is supreme; it is with Him we are called to walk. Humility is a relative term. If I walk with the King, everyone comes out to see Him. I talk with the King, people shall talk about Him. If you want to take the pride out of your life, go and look at Calvary. All that I am I owe to Him.

"And holiness: — this word doesn belongf to any group; it isn't any one's peculiar possession. What does it mean? Wholeness, soundness, in perfect christian health. The man who walks with God is the holy one.

"People are tempted to think this walk is a future one. But Enoch had walked that way before he was taken. It is our privilege to choose who we will walk with now."

PIANO WORK OF HIGH IS SUCCESS

This is the first year that the curriculum of the music department of Glendale High has included piano classes, and Mrs. Dora Gibson, head of the department, is much pleased with the work the students are doing. It is more stimulating, she says, than private, individual instruction, as the pupils have opportunity to study and criticise the work of their classmates and to profit by the criticism. While there is a common program of study, when pieces are assigned they are selected with a view to the talents and temperament of the student.

HI SENIORS TO STAGE MUSIC
